In the upper left cell you will find the following links to important research materials

- Catalog: Clicking here will link you to the catalog of Trocaire Libraries and the catalogs of other institutions. Use these links to find books, print periodicals, CDs, DVDs, etc.
- Article Databases: Link to Trocaire Library's online research databases (used for finding articles and images).
 - Once you click on Article Databases, follow the directions for on-campus or off-campus access. You must use Moodle, when you are off-campus.

Trocaire Databases

- Trocaire's article databases contain various types of documents, including scholarly (peer-reviewed), magazine, and newspaper articles. We also have image databases with high quality images that suitable for study or importing into your own papers and presentations.
- Three of our many databases will be outlined here:
 - EBSCOhost
 - ProQuest
 - Alexandria, the library catalog

| EBSCOhost |

Here you see the first screen from EBSCOhost, listing our research databases.

On this screen you can select the individual database you want to search or you can select multiple databases for simultaneous searching.

Any database with a green check mark (✓) in the left-hand column will be searched. You can, therefore, check on or off whichever database(s) you think best for your research.

When you finish making your selection, click on the blue CONTINUE button in order to proceed to the search screen.

At the bottom of the page, there is a blue 'Continue' button.

This is the search screen. You enter your search term in the entry box at the top (beside the blue SEARCH button).

Before you conduct your search, make sure to set limitations. The two most important limitations are FULL TEXT and SCHOLARLY (PEER REVIEWED) JOURNALS.

Setting the FULL TEXT limitation means your search will return only full-text documents (not merely citations). Use this option carefully because most articles are not available in FULL-TEXT.

If your instructor requires that you use only articles from professional journals (not magazines or newspapers), then you will need to use the SCHOLARLY (PEER REVIEWED) JOURNALS limitation.

You can also limit by date, publication type, document type, and others. You have the option to limit your search results by date.

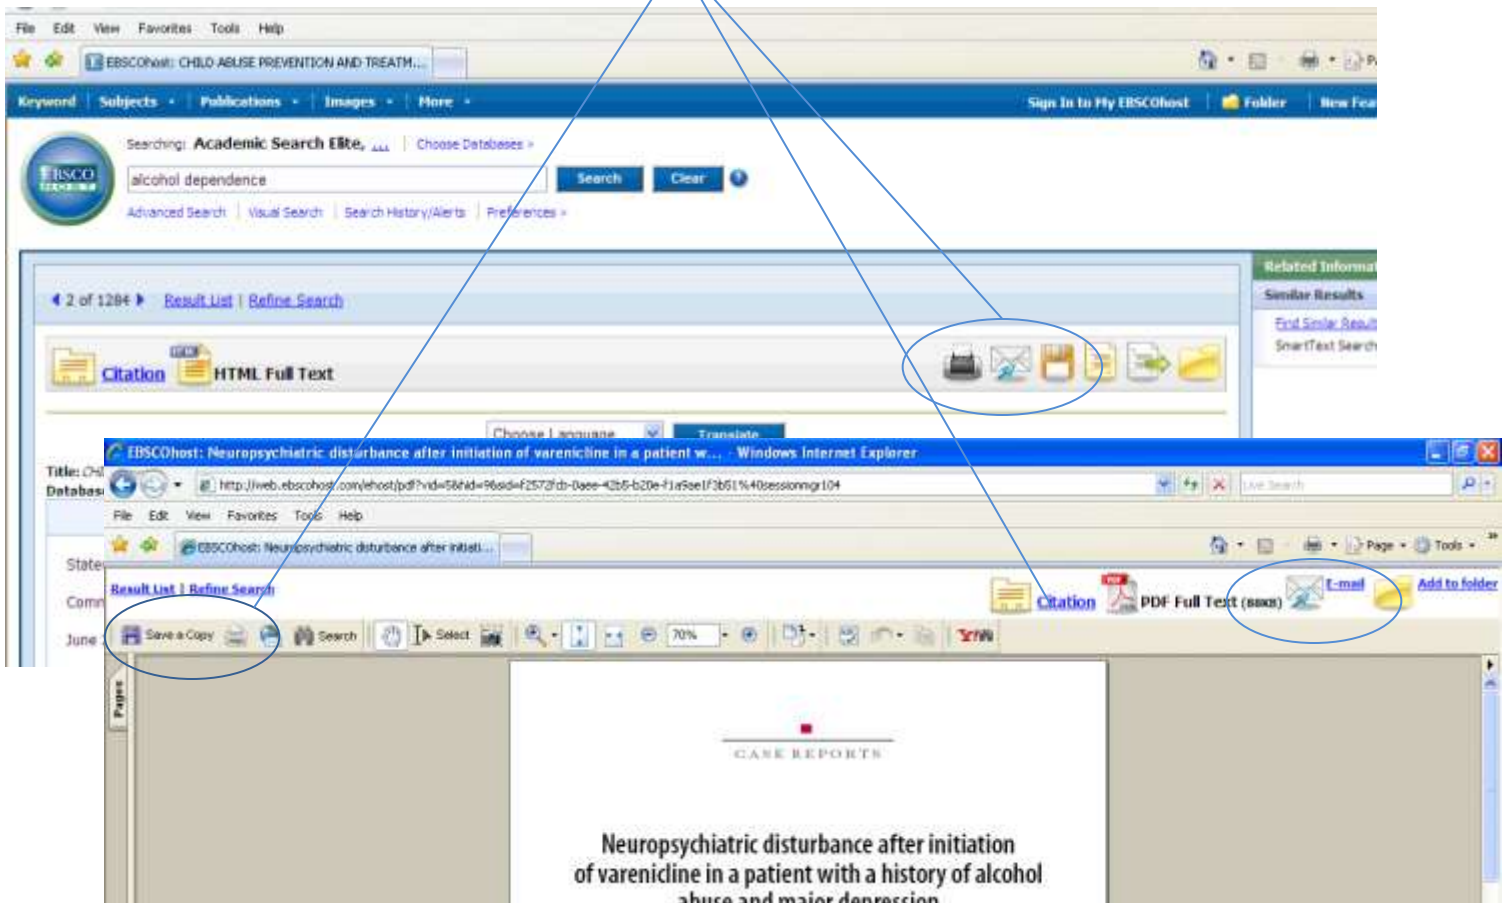

Once you have set your limitations and entered your search term, click on the blue SEARCH button to get your search results.

Here you see a typical search results screen. At the top of the list you are shown how many total documents your search retrieved.

Each result lists the document title as well as other publication information. Link to Full Text provides additional options to obtain an article.

- Documents that are full text will include a HTML Full Text and/or PDF Full-Text link.
 - “HTML full text” means the document will appear as text on the screen without page breaks, and the document may or may not include the original graphics (photos, charts, graphs, etc.).
 - “PDF full text” means a scanned version of the document. In other words, it looks just like the original article, complete with page breaks. Generally the PDF full text is preferable to HTML full text.
-  When you are searching the databases and the full-text of an article is not available there, click on this icon. One of the following will pop-up.
 - the full-text in another database
 - a page with a link to our Interlibrary Loan form under the heading Borrow from another library. It may take 2 to 10 business days for your loan to be delivered. Call the library for more information {716-827-2434}

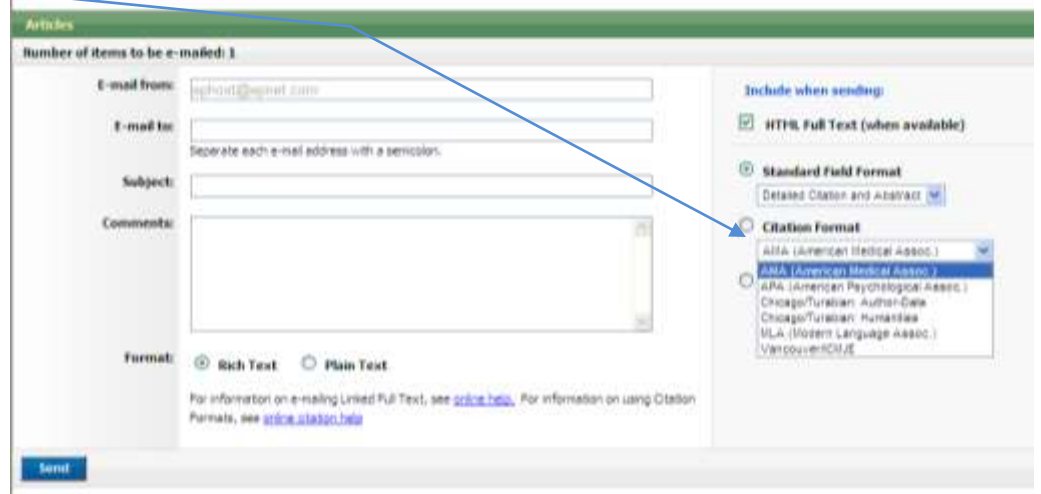

There are several ways to keep a copy of the document whether it is the full-text, an abstract, or a citation. You can email it, print it, or save it to a USB drive, or your space on H:\.

You have the option of copying or sending yourself a citation formatted according to a citation style of your choice, such as MLA or APA style.

If you are sending multiple files, be sure to add information in the subject field. This will help

- you identify each item
- your professor know who sent the article

Above are some selected images from a ProQuest research database, including the initial database selection screen, the search screen, and a results list.

Although it has a different interface from EBSCOhost, it accomplishes the same task in approximately the same manner.

| Library Catalog – Alexandria |

Here is a screenshot of Alexandria's opening page. This page is where you begin your search for print books, eBooks, DVDs, and CDs.

The screenshot shows the Alexandria library catalog search page. At the top, there are links for 'Home' and 'Log In', and the text 'The Libraries @ Trocaire College'. A navigation menu on the left includes 'Tools' (Site Information, Reset Search, Reload Window, Settings, Help) and 'Lists' (Temp Basket, Past Searches, Past Items). The main search area has a dropdown menu set to 'All Words', a search input field with 'creed', and a search button. Below the search area are links to 'WorldCat', 'ProQuest', 'EBSCO Business', and 'Moodle'. The 'Extras' section includes a link to 'Bulletin Boards'.

Type your search term here.

Below is an image of a typical search results list.

To view an individual record, click on the title (in blue) or MORE (bottom right corner per each item). Be careful not to click on the call number above the title.

Call Number	Title	Author	Year	More...
HIT 616.8 DON	Dorland's neurology word book for medical transcriptionists	Rhodes, Sharon B. Donnelly, Ann Marie.	book (c2001)	more...
612.8 BRI	The female brain	Brizendine, Louann,	book (c2006)	more...
REF 616.89 FUN 2nd ed. v.1-2	The Gale encyclopedia of mental health	Fundukian, Laurie J., Wilson, Jeffrey,	book (c2008)	more...
616.8 SAC	The man who mistook his wife for a hat	Sacks, Oliver W.	book (c1985)	more...

This is a typical detailed description of an item in the catalog.

After you click on the title of the item, you will see a detailed record similar to the one at the left. It gives you some important details:

- call number (This item is in the Transit Rd. library.)
- title and author
- a summary
- availability (This item is available.)
- publication information (Use this in your bibliography.)
- subject headings

- Availability statement: This indicates how many copies the library owns and whether an item is checked out or available for use. Click on Availability to see the call number and location of all copies.
- Transit: Items located at the Transit Campus library have the word Transit in the call number. Students at the Transit Campus may request library materials from the Choate Campus library (and vice versa). Speak to a staff member about this option. (716) 827-2434

Additional Services

- Interlibrary Loan: If you need a book that the library doesn't own, place an Interlibrary Loan request at the circulation desk or fill in the form under the "Book" tab on <http://library.trocaire.edu/loan-request> . We will request the item from another local library on your behalf. But be warned that it may take up to two weeks for a book to arrive through the US Mail system. Generally there is no charge for this service. If it is not available from UB, there may be a charge but we will contact you to ask if you would like us to proceed.
- InfoPass: Sign-up for this program that allows you special on-site borrowing and/or usage privileges at various local libraries, such as D'Youville College, ECC, Canisius College, etc. This means you may borrow their books and use other library services.
